CHAIRMAN'S COLUMN

Tony Sage

I'd like to welcome everyone to HBF Park for tonight's clash with Wellington Phoenix.

With the visitors one place and two points behind us on the ladder, it's a huge game for both sides and one that I'm particularly looking forward to.

It follows on from Saturday's draw with Victory which saw four world-class goals and the kind of edge-of-your-seat drama that only football can provide.

It was fantastic to see Nick D'Agostino continuing the stellar form he showed with the Olyroos and it will be exciting to watch how his game continues to develop.

In contrast, we were all deeply saddened to see Chris Ikonomidis sustain a serious knee injury and I'd like to personally wish Chris all the best with his recovery. Enjoy the game!

MEET THE OPPOSITION

Ufuk Talay

Phoenix have enjoyed an impressive season to date under new Head Coach Ufuk Talay and currently occupy fourth spot on the ladder, two points behind Glory.

The Kiwi side have lost just once since Round 4 and are especially strong at home, where they have won five of their eight games.

One of their key men this term has been Mexican attacking midfielder Ulises Davila who has bagged ten goals and provided three assists in what is his debut Hyundai A-League campaign.

Wellington's other players to watch include former Celtic and England striker Gary Hooper, ex-Newcastle United defender Steven Taylor and in-form goalkeeper Stefan Marinovic.

October's clash between Phoenix and Glory at Westpac Stadium went the way of the WA side and the men in yellow-and-black have won on only five of their 19 previous visits to HBF Park.
